

Press Release

June 15, 2012

For Immediate Release

Organization: Fort St John Public Library
Contact: Morgan Peltier
Phone: 250-785-3731
Email: fsj.src@gmail.com

Summer Reading Club 2012 : Strange... But True?

Encourage kids to investigate great reading this summer! Children will be forced to wonder whether what they read is Strange... But True? when they join the 2012 Summer Reading Club for free at the Fort St John Public Library!

Kids can sign up at Fort St John Public Library starting on June 28th (the last day of school) and receive a fabulous free Reading Record and investigator's license, as well as collect weekly stickers. Check us out for fun free programs every week, contests, parties and displays all summer. Drop-in activity times run every Tuesday and Thursday:

2-6 year olds: 10:15 am

7-12 year olds: 2:00pm

Regular reading during the summer helps kids to maintain or even improve their reading and literacy skills and studies show that voluntary reading is the number one factor in establishing good reading habits. Summer Reading Club makes reading fun and the expert staff at Fort St John Public Library can help kids find just the right book or magazine from among a wide variety of library materials.

Summer Reading Club reaches over 80,000 children across British Columbia (and over 400 in Fort St John alone) every summer and is sponsored by the British Columbia Library Association with funding assistance from Libraries and Literacy, Ministry of Education.

For more information about Summer Reading Club check the website at [your library website] or the online Summer Reading Club at www.kidssrc.ca